

Online Bible Study FAQ

What do I need to get started?

All you need is your Bible, a notebook or journal, a writing utensil and access to the internet! Additionally, you need 15-30 minutes set aside five days a week, ideally with friends who can go through the study with you!

How does the study work?

There are different levels of participation in this study.

First: Purchase the study book, written by our Central Women Writing team. This book will be your best bet in diving deeper into the study. The book is available in print for $16, or a downloadable pdf for $5.

You can purchase either from our Central Women Online Store at <https://central-women.myshopify.com/>

Second: The Teaching videos are available to stream via RightNow Media. Join RightNow media with the invitation in your confirmation email, log in and search for the Tables Study.

Third: Share what you are learning with others!

Is there homework?

There are five days of study each week. Days will include journal prompts and study. We ask that you share what you are learning with others or ask others to join with you in this study.

Do I need to have a certain translation of the bible?

No, we will use NIV for all scripture posted, however any version that you have will work.

How do I connect with women and share what I am learning?

Tag us on your social media outlets using #cwonlinestudy and invite other women to join in the conversation with you and what you are learning.

What happens if I don't order a book?

There are eight teaching videos available via RightNow Media with question prompts. You are free to use those to do the study but you will get more if you purchase the workbook.

Is there a cost to participate in the study?

No. Central Women's online Bible studies are free. You have the option to purchase a book to dive deeper. The book is available in print for $16 or you can purchase a downloadable pdf for $5.
